FOR SALE—10 room house; modern; all conveniences; 5 minutes' walk from town; large barn; inquire at 206 Locust st., or phone Peo. 826. 208-tf

FOR SALE—By Chas. Esseltburn, Walsh block, South Main st., phones 118.

We have for sale one of the very best propositions in their line in Akron in a retail grocery store; also one of the best grocery stores in Akron; also a first-class hardware store. The stock in the drug store will invoice about $5,500 including fixtures; the grocery store about $4,000 with fixtures; the hardware store about $8,000 with fixtures. These three stores are in two first-class brick buildings which are connected with an archway. They can be run separately or together. We will sell either of these three stores or the three together as a whole. The owner of these stores has made a fortune out of them, one reason of the complete success he has made out of these stores is the location, the location for business with hardly any competition in either store cannot be beat in Akron. There is no old stock in any of these stores, and everything is up to date in its line (a visit to other of them will fully convince you as to this statement). Remember in this sale that not one cent is charged for the good will of either store (which have been established for 20 years). The owner of these stores leaves Akron the first week in January, matters of great importance call him from the city, and a quick sale means a bargain to the buyer of either store. The owner also owns the buildings (which are finely equipped for their purposes, with good warehouses in the rear) in which these stores are, and will rent them very cheap to the buyer with a long term of leases if desired. All cash is not necessary, one third down with security for balance of payments will do.

If you want to get a good store in a first-class established business, do not miss this opportunity, when you see what we have got to sell you will buy, the good will of either of these stores is worth the price we ask for the stock (at low invoice price).
